

In this advanced seminar,
we consider soul healing in relation to individuals and to communities.

What is the role of the spiritual director in response to trauma?

*How do we interface with the spirituality
of a particular individual or communal setting?*

What is our relationship to therapeutic professionals?

*How do we embrace appropriate limits
without limiting the capacity of the spirit?*

How do we care for ourselves as we experience the trauma of others?

About the Center for Spirituality at Work

We envision a world in which everyone has a place and a voice at the table. We work towards this vision by uniting diverse people for spiritual transformation and social justice.

We have been training and supporting spiritual directors since 1996. Our commitment to those who live in poverty and on the margins has enabled us to develop an expertise in the spiritual aspects of a healing response to trauma.

Employment, programs, services and collaborative partnerships of the Center for Spirituality at Work are available to all people regardless of race, color, national origin, gender, sexual orientation, age, disability, religion, military status or marital status.
